

Dr. M. O. Garg, Director Addl. Charge (23 July 2007 – 4 August 2009)

Dr. M. O. Garg is an expert in petroleum refining and petrochemicals, and has been instrumental in developing and commercializing a large number of technologies in Indian refineries. A graduate from Nagpur University and a postgraduate from IIT Kanpur, Dr. Garg completed his PhD in solvent extraction from the University of Melbourne. His areas of specialization include solvent extraction, process integration, advanced control, simulation and modelling. He has published more than 260 papers in journals and holds 50 national and international patents. He has been elected a Fellow of the Indian National Academy of Engineers.